

Save your breath

(Stockmann/Schmitt)

See you staring up the sky; is it the only reason why
Desperation's all you know; the only way you want to go

Strikes of fate, defeat of life; years of black that won't go by
Think it's time to tear it down; senseless suffering dead gone

I've done this road before; I've seen it all before
It kills you inside out; don't make your life a doubt
When I look back now right through your face
Your tears are rivers into shade, your darkness covers you with death
But you're alive, don't waste your breath.

See me watch you every step; following an empty wrap
This one who used to be my friend; is now a slave in death' own hand

Solo

You're no more willing to resist; no more force to make a fist
I'd better leave you in that cage; you built for yourself, what a fate
